PRICE THREE CENTS.

HOSTS GATHERING

For the Big Democratic Convention to be Held Next Week.

A Winner Will be Chosen

Who Will Lead the Democracy of the Buckeye State in the Campaign of 1901—Great Interest Centers in the Platform to be Adopted.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat. Columbus, Ohio, July 6.—The most largely attended and most interesting state convention of any party held in Ohio in many years is now ready to be held in Columbus Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, when the Democrats will nominate the ticket destined to win next November. Other conventions may have promised larger results in national affairs, although even that is to be doubted; but it is certain that for a long time none has excited the interest that attaches to the convening of the Democratic convention this year. Lively contests are expected over every office to be named on the ticket, and the platform attracts far more attention than at any time since 1884. The rank and file of the party seems to feel that the Ohio Democracy has far more than a mere chance of winning this year, and the faithful propose to come forward and make their feelings known at the state capital when the convention meets.

The Democratic hosts will be emphatically in evidence, indications at the various hotels, and wherever political subjects are most interesting show that the attendance and the enthusiasm will be well nigh unprecedented. It is a fact worth noting, also, that the great attendance will not come in disproportionate measure as is frequently the case, from the large cities and centers of political activity. The smaller cities, the county seat and other prosperous towns, and even the villages and farms, will be more liberally represented than ever before.

Cleveland, Cincinnati and Springfield—the latter on account of John T. Zimmerman's candidacy for governor—will send the larger delegations, but the convention will hold its own as against the great influx from the cities. The Great Southern hotel will be the hub of the big convention spoke. Here all the candidates will have headquarters offshoots at the Neil and Clutterton, however, and the accommodations are ample for both delegates and spectators. Columbus secured the convention on the promise that there would be no advance in hotel rates and the proprietors say that this will be faithfully fulfilled.

Colonel Kilbourne will have the south parlors and two other apartments on the parlor floor of the great Southern. These will be thrown open Monday morning and will be in charge of a local reception committee that has been organized as an auxiliary to the Kilbourne boom. Two marching clubs, each with a band, will be under the direction of this committee, to welcome and escort the larger delegations and marching clubs. Mr. Zimmerman will have headquarters immediately adjoining Col. Kilbourne's. They also, will be open Monday, when the Springfield candidate will arrive with a party of personal friends and the gentlemen who have had charge of his canvass in Clark county.

HOHENLOHE,

Germany's Former Chancellor Passes Away.

The Prince Was One of Germany's Most Distinguished Statesmen. Was Born in 1819.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Berne, July 6.—Prince Hohenlohe, the former Chancellor of Germany, died last night at Ratatz, where he had been taking the mineral waters in hopes of regaining his health. He was one of Germany's most distinguished statesmen and became the Imperial Chancellor in 1848 holding that place till 1900, since which time he had lived in Switzerland. He was born in 1819.

Colonel Kilbourne still maintains lead for the nomination for governor and there is little doubt that he will be nominated on the first ballot, although Mr. Zimmerman's friends claim to see another solution of the problem with which they have been

Several days ago four of Dowie's missionaries were egged and driven out of Evanston, and the visit of the 21 was intended to convert the people of Evanston and show them the error of their ways. The instant the Dowieites began their meeting they were assailed with eggs, vegetables and other missiles. All the policemen in Evanston were summoned but were inadequate to protect them. RACE

War is Imminent at Ironton, O.

TWO FATALITIES

Result From a Fight in a Park.

Colored Men Who Are Held for the Murders Taken to Portsmouth.

Trouble Started by Negro Assaulting a White Child—Citizens Wanted to Lynch the Murderers.

Ironton, O., July 6.—The removal of Abner Owens and Luther Page, the negro assailants of the Slaughter boys, to jail at Portsmouth, has averted a crisis here. The two men were driven to a train in a closed carriage guarded by Sheriff Dovel and Marshal Brice, and halted a square from the depot. Deputy Sheriff Payne and the police force waited at the station and formed a cordon about the prisoners as they were led to the train in irons. Not a dozen people were aware of the transfer before the train arrived. Riley and Martin Slaughter, brothers of the wounded men, had started for the depot but the train had pulled out a minute before they arrived. Officers disarmed negroes and arrested John Scales, who flashed a revolver. Negroes were openly congregating and displaying arms.

At Fleetwood park John and Albert Slaughter, white, were probably fatally stabbed by Page and Owens, and Charles Martin and Riley Slaughter were beaten with clubs.

The mother of the Slaughters was knocked down with a club by Owens.

John Slaughter was badly cut and will die.

Albert Slaughter had his jugular vein severed and his arm almost cut off.

The trouble occurred over the slapping of a small white boy by a colored man and it almost caused a race riot.

An attempt was made to organize a mob to lynch the prisoners.

COLUMBIA

Wins the Great Three-Cornered Yacht Race.

Both the Old and New Cup Defenders Defeated the Pretender, Independence, Easily.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

New York, July 6.—The great three-cornered race between the new Cup Defenders Constitution, the old Cup Defenders Columbia, and the would-be defender, Independence, started just after noon off Brenton's Reef. The Columbia led, with Constitution seconded with death. Sargent fled with Brobst street car magnate yesterday, was the race and an immense fleet of excursion steamers and yachts were along the course.

It is the greatest single stick yacht race ever sailed. The breeze is over 12 knots and at one o'clock the relative position of the yachts unchanged with the Columbia in the lead, the Constitution in the rear and not pointing into the wind as well as the Herreshoff yachts.

The yachts are now in a fog and are invisible. When last seen the Columbia was leading.

The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by Wm. M. McElveen's old post office corner.

The Best Liniment for Strains. Mr. F. H. Wells, the merchant of Deep Park, Long Island, N. Y., says: "I always recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm as the best liniment for strains. I used it last winter for a severe lameness in the side, resulting from a strain, and was greatly pleased with the quick relief and cure it effected." For sale by Wm. M. There is more diarrhea in this section of the country than other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be caused by worms. Now doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. This has given rise to a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Gastro-Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional remedy. It is sold in tablets, each tablet being in doses from 1/2 to 1/4 teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. There offer one hundred tablets for any case. It is a cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

When Albers saw what he had done he ran into the house and told his mother. The neighborhood was quickly alarmed with the news and during the excitement Albers ran away. Investigation begun.

A summary of the news from the Boer war since May 1 is not calculated to kindle much enthusiasm in England. During the first week in June the skirmish fighting cost the British 65 men killed and 229 wounded. During the month of May the British losses from wounds, accidents and disease were 25 officers and 709 men, while 39 officers and 569 men were in the hospital at the beginning of the month. In addition 82 officers and 1,912 men were invalided and sent home. The losses by casualties of war were incurred in skirmishes scattered over a region 1,000 miles long by 40 wide. The British find it impossible to direct military operations by telegraph without informing the Boers of their intention. Consequently the Boers are able to avoid the blow intended at some specific point, and are often able to inflict a fanning thrust upon the British column on the march. It is not strange that the Liberal party in Great Britain is making all possible capital out of the situation in Africa; for the outlook is not rosy the way the war is now being carried on. It is a terrible problem, and the cost of solving it is appalling.

The late Governor Pingree was noted for his pithy sayings. His absolute disregard for party discipline is shown by the following: "Every agency that is bleeding the country has taken refuge under the wing of the Republican party." Here are several other epigrammatic sayings attributed to Governor Pingree:

"Every rascal is an extreme partisan."

"Government for the bondholder is becoming quite common in the world—nations gone into the hands of a receiver."

"Money is taken each year out of the pockets of the producers and goes to swell the corruption fund of the privileged few."

"The most difficult thing we have to get are honest laws; and then they must be administered."

"Mr. Depew," says the Chicago Chronicle, "emerges from the third-term wreck slightly disfigured, but with sufficient breath to assert that Mr. Hanna never will do for a presidential candidate. A man who objects to Mr. Hanna for president cannot have been very much in earnest in his advocacy of a third term for Mr. McKinley." The indications grow stronger every day that Mr. Depew will never find the candidate he really wants outside a looking glass.

GOVERNOR NASH.

Ohio probably never had a more unpopular governor than George K. Nash.

Some people may excuse his miserable failure on the ground that under Hanna's first rule a Republican governor can't be anything but a puppet; that Hanna nominated Nash and put him in the chair, and Nash had to obey orders and use the office to promote the political fortunes of his political wet-nurse.

But that's no excuse. A man with a spark of manhood in him would find some occasion to assert himself. Nash has been a fool at all times. Even his attitude in the matter of the Ohio Centennial was influenced by a desire to crush ex-Representative Griffis and to please certain social and financial influences in Columbus that wanted to kill the Centennial. He wasn't big enough to take such a broad view of the matter as one might expect from the governor of the great state of Ohio.

IN GETHSEMANI

The Remains of A. G. Vandebrock Are Buried.

The last sad rites over the remains of Albert G. Vandebrock were held at St. Rose church at 9 o'clock this morning. Rev. Frederick Rupert sang the requiem mass and preached the funeral sermon. The body was consigned to a final place of rest in Gethsemani cemetery.

The following friends of the deceased were the bearers of the pall: Charles E. Donze, H. B. Hackendorf, E. W. Cook, J. O. Stott, F. C. Beck and Adam Fritz.

VERY SUDDENLY

F. M. Aiken was Stricken Seriously Ill Today.

F. M. Aiken, the well known oil producer, while sitting with his family at a dining table in the private dining room at the Oak this afternoon about 2:45 o'clock, was stricken ill very suddenly and fell from his chair. Two physicians were hastily summoned but at 3 o'clock he was still unable to be removed to his home. Mr. Aiken and his family were about to start for Bay View, Mich.

Russia's best known newspaper, the Nov. Vremya of St. Petersburg, has been suspended for a week by the minister of the interior for publishing an article on strikes in which the present wretched condition of the Russian workingmen is shown up.

In the Saengerfest episode at Cincinnati he acted like a school-boy. He had such a small opinion of the people of Ohio, that he thought they would regard his action as the highest type of statesmanship when he threatened to send troops to Cincinnati to support a prize fight when neither the mayor of Cincinnati nor the sheriff of Hamilton county had called upon him for the state's assistance. Nobody cared anything particularly about the pesky scappers or the fight. Neither did the state worry about the financial fortunes of the Saengerfest society. There was a principle involved. And the governor showed that he had an erroneous idea concerning the relation of the state to its constituent parts, and the rights of the governor to use the state troops to meddle in local affairs.

In making petty appointments as governor he has spurned all small politicians who showed the slightest disposition to rebel against the czar-like rule of Boss Hanna.

We do not believe the people of Ohio want two years more of that kind of a governor.—Toledo Bee.

THE KANSAS DEMOCRATS' RIGHTS.

The Democrats of Kansas have acted right in refusing to go into further fusion with discontented elements. The trouble about the fusion business is that while it rallies the office seekers, it fails to rally the voters. Many a party seeking recognition in fusion, has no existence save in the person of the few interested individuals who stand ready to accept all the offices in sight. Without constituency they demand such recognition as should only go to large bodies of voters. By this we do not mean that the evils which the people seek to have removed should not be vigorously waged against. It is the duty of the Democratic party to make itself at once the agent of the popular will by standing for all the rights of citizenship and by adopting policies having for their aim the advancement of the whole people. The Democratic party can represent them that there will be no room for the appearance of any other.

If the Democratic party of any given state fails to so align itself as to attract the support of the independent masses if has failed in its own work, and instead of committing this task to other sources, should set about the work of amendment. Chairman McLove of the Kansas committee is right when he declares that "we believe the Democratic platform embodies all the cardinal reform movements, and feel that the Populists of the state who are earnest in wanting to see reform movements succeed can reasonably enter the Democratic camp."

Salvadorean Health Falls.

Washington, July 6.—Senior Don Rafael Saldivar, the Salvadorean minister to Washington, has left for his home. His health has suffered somewhat and he goes home to recuperate. There consequently will be a temporary delay in the prosecution of the two claims against his government which the state department has preferred in the interest of Americans, amounting to about $500,000, but it is stated there is every prospect that an amicable settlement will be reached by Sept. 15.

between General E. B. Finley or B. Judge Hidy of Fayette county, G. M. Saizgarber, of Van Wert, and W. S. Courtright of Pickaway. Others will be announced before the week is out, but this quartette has a long lead at the present writing.

The candidates for attorney general are Frank S. Monnett, H. A. Mykrantz and C. M. McCarthy. The latter is a young Toledo lawyer who is earnestly backed by his friends in the Northwest and is looked upon as a very probable compromise between Monnett and Mykrantz—the former representing Mayor Johnson's interest and the latter the opposition to Johnson. It would be no surprise if McCarthy was to slip in between the two.

The chief interest however, centers in the platform. There is a strong feeling among Democrats that victory or defeat hangs in this balance. There is no doubt that the ticket will be one calculated to invite the support of men in all parties, and with a safe platform it is felt that there will be no doubt as to the result. The deliberations of the committee on resolutions will be more important and will attract more attention than at any time since 1886.

The convention proper will be a one day affair. The district delegate meetings will be held at various places designated at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The committees meet Tuesday night and all will be in readiness for the real business of the convention at 10 o'clock Wednesday. The district delegates from the 4th district, representing the counties of Allen, Auglaize, Shelby, Drake and Mercer, will meet in the office of the board of public works at the state House Tuesday afternoon at the hour named.

Post's Estimate of W. B. Richie.

In connection with the other interesting matters pertaining to Democratic state convention is the following article which recently appeared in the Cincinnati Post, written by Mr. W. P. Campbell of Cincinnati, one of the staff reporters who was in Lima several days last week. The article says:

"Every two years Walter B. Richie enjoys the distinction of being dragged out of political semiobscenity and discussed for the Ohio Governorship. Lima is just as well satisfied that he is not nominated and elected every time, for his company here is desirable. If a list of Odeons were being made up of the most of this and most of that, of that, Walter B. Richie would be rightfully classed as the "most fraternal." He is fraternal—he, body and soul. That explains how he became the biggest K. of P. in the world in 1895, when he was elected Supreme Chancellor of the order. In that capacity one single act of benevolence and generosity gave him a world-wide reputation. It was this: W. A. Radcliffe, of Missouri, had been elected Supreme Secretary and ordered to Lima, headquarters

Knocked Off of an Engine.

Made a 'Drop'

And Hit the Car Before it Cleared.

Engineer Slightly Injured in an Accident in the L. E. & W. Yards.

Engineer John Maxwell and Fireman Chas. Maxwell Quit Railroading and Venture Into Business.

Last evening engineer Al. Gestas, of the L. E. & W., was slightly injured in an accident that occurred in the yards on the south side. He was in charge of switch engine No. 1, and had made a "drop" of a box car into a side track and was immediately given a "go ahead" signal. He started the engine forward and pulling the switch before the "dropped" car had cleared, the engine was struck by a corner of the switch engine and engines sustained slight injuries, including a painful rash on one side of the face. The engine was run into a round house to have the car removed.

Exciting Situation
Last night there was a distressing accident occurred at Glynnwood a few days ago, and that the result was not more serious is remarkable. When the west-bound local freight on the L. E. & W. was nearing the crossing of the pike at that place, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Spray and young babies in that vicinity, were driving towards the crossing on a big wagon containing a bay rigging. At the out of the approaching train Mr. Spray became frightened, and though he exerted his strength to meet the horses, they became uncontrollable and started to run. They raced towards the train, which by this time had reached the crossing, and could not be stopped until the same in contact with the cars. The occupants of the wagon were thrown out with considerable violence. Mrs. Spray striking upon their head and sustaining a scalp wound, quite severe enough for danger. Mr. Spray was slightly injured about the hips, and the baby escaped practically uninjured receiving only a few slight bruises. One of the horses was killed almost instantly, while the other was unharmed.

Trial of George Fury, Also Indicted for Burglary, Commenced Yesterday Afternoon.

Engineer John Maxwell and fireman Charles Maxwell have both resigned their positions with the L. E. & W. railroad, where they were two of the most popular and trusted men in the engine department, and have purchased the old Frank Seller restaurant, boarding house and saloon on south Main street, which was owned and managed by the late A. Stag, for about three years prior to the latter's death. The boys have opened up their place and are making extensive improvements in its fixtures and management. Their success as business men seems to be assured.

Notes.
The St. Marys branch of the T. & O., formerly the Columbus North-Western, had two wrecks during the last week. The first was a collision between a local freight and a passenger train in which conductor Porter was slightly injured and the other was a collision with a handcar, which resulted in an engine and six gravel cars being derailed near Zanesfield.

The L. E. & W. gravel train is engaged in hauling earth from the hills or the company's property at the reservoir to Celina, where new sidetracks are being put in. A team shovel is used in loading. As soon as the work is finished at Celina additional sidetracks will be put in yards at this place.

Indiana Journal. William Pearson, a passenger-engineer on the Four, on Monday had rather a bad experience. A Mrs. Pearson, who had many years furnished his family butter, coming in from a farm a few miles out, about an hour after leaving her weekly order for butter ready home, and the carriage in which she was returning was struck crossing by the engine. Mr. Cast was running. He stopped his car, and on discovering who was in it, was almost overcome with

FORMAL

Dedication of Allen County Soldiers' Monument.

Description of the Handsome Memorial Stone That was Unveiled Thursday Afternoon.

The unveiling and dedication of the Allen county soldiers' monument took place at Woodlawn cemetery on July 4th, at 2:30 p.m.

George Kanwall, chairman of the county commissioners, turned over the monument in due form to Mart Armstrong Post No. 202, Department of Ohio, Grand Army of the Republic, for unveiling and dedicating.

Gladys Hall, granddaughter of Geo. Hall and William Nutt, both veterans of the civil war, unveiled the monument in due form to Mart Armstrong Post No. 202, Department of Ohio, Grand Army of the Republic, for unveiling and dedicating.

The monument is a beautiful carved, relief piece of work. The navy is represented by a relief figure 4 feet 8 inches in height, and the army by a private soldier 4 feet 8 inches in height. In front are the words "In Memory," and a badge of the Grand Army Republic 2 feet 8 inches in size. The rear of the monument has the cross swords with the words "Allen County Soldier's Monument" engraved on them. The monument is built of Bedford stone, and weighs nine tons. The gun was brought from Benicia, California, and guarded the bay of San Francisco during the civil war. The pattern has disappeared, and a modern gun replaced it. The weight of this gun is eight tons. The monument and gun is a just and fitting memorial to the heroes of the war of '61 to '65.

Trial of George Fury, Also Indicted for Burglary, Commenced Yesterday Afternoon.

Sheriff Bogart and Lieutenant of police Wingate returned home last night from Fremont, to which place they had been summoned as witnesses in the case of the state against George Fury and Charles Montague, two young men, aged about 18 or 19 years each, who were indicted for breaking and entering the L. E. & W. depot at Elyria. Montague was tried first and was convicted, the jury being out only a short time, and the trial of Fury's case was commenced immediately. Bogart and Wingate were not called to the witness stand, as they were only wanted as witnesses in rebuttal in case the defense should attempt to prove a previous good reputation for the boys, who have frequently been in trouble here.

BODY

Of a Drowned Boy Thought to be Floating

In Hog Creek Toward This City. Was Drowned Near Ada Yesterday Afternoon.

This morning at 8 o'clock the police received a telephone message from the Journal of Ada, requesting them to be on the lookout for the body of a boy who was drowned in a small creek two miles west of Ada yesterday afternoon. The boy had gone swimming in the creek in which the water was high on account of the recent rains and although searching parties were out all night the body could not be found and it is thought the remains had been washed into Hog Creek by the strong current.

Perry Township Pool Still Holds the Banner in Allen County. Tapscott Well Good.

The Perry township pool, east of the city, has had some mixed results from the latest wells drilled in, says F. W. Black, in a dispatch to the Derrick. The good luck of Samuel Lippert continues to stick to him, and he has another well, which starts off at a three-figure gait, No. 2, on the J. T. Tapscott, in section 8, having put 150 barrels into the tank the first day. His No. 1, on the Tapscott lands, in section 10, is good for about 25 barrels. In section 2, Perry, the Perry Oil company's No. 1, Craig, turned out to be a failure, and Roth & Argue's No. 1, T. B. Marshall, section 41, was also a dry hole. Lippert's well on the Brentlinger farm, which looked like a dry hole, was treated to a liberal dose of high explosive yesterday, and, contrary to all expectations, it responded in such a way as to make the well look good for a fair pumper.

In the Marion township district, Apple & Co.'s test on the Luesne farm, in section 8, has been put in operation and looks good for a 20-barrel well.

Maire Bros. have finished up a well on a new lease in section 14, Marion, and have a 75-barrel well. It is on the M. C. Beeler farm.

Johnson, Well & Co.'s No. 3, Mary Bonifas, section 14, Spencer, had an initial yield of 80 barrels.

OUR TALLEST SMOKESTACK

Chimney 365 Feet High Finished at Constable Hook, N. J.

The tallest smokestack ever built in the United States has just been completed at Constable Hook, N. J., says the New York Sun. It is 365 feet above the ground and in height is exceeded by a few others in the world. The stack is at the works of the Oxford Copper Works, which are opposite New Brighton, Staten Island, and residents of that place and indeed of the whole shore of the island have watched its erection with the greatest interest, as it has been designed with the idea of giving them a partial relief from the smoke nuisance of which Staten Islanders have been complaining so vigorously.

It was figured out by experts that if the smoke from the 27 chimneys of the blast furnaces, containing a considerable percentage of sulphurous gas, could be carried up to sufficient height it would reach a strata that would take it over Staten Island or any other contiguous territory far enough to permit the obnoxious gases to become dissipated. Investigations were made at the copper works at Laurel Hill, on Long Island, where there is a stack 205 feet high, and for miles around no one, it was found, complained. Consequently a stack even higher than that at Laurel Hill was decided upon, which has cost something over $50,000.

The construction of such a stack on the marshy ground at Constable Hook was a very difficult undertaking and involved great engineering problems. Only one firm in the world, the company believed, could do the job, and that was the Custodis Chimney Construction Company of Germany. They brought over their own men here who had experience in laying bricks at altitudes even as great as 400 feet. The work was begun in November of last year, when a hole was dug 45 feet square and 15 feet deep, reaching several feet below the water level. Over the entire bottom were driven piles as close as could be driven and also as deep. In all about 500 piles were used. Then a layer of concrete went on top of this, and the brickwork started on top of this. This part of the stack was 30 feet square for height of 30 feet, with a hole in the center 16 feet in diameter leaving the wall at the narrowest part seven feet thick. On top of this cone was erected the chimney proper, of special radial brick with an outside diameter at the bottom of 30 feet and 12 feet at the top. The inside diameter is 16 feet at the bottom and 10 feet at the top. The workmen worked on scaffolds on the inside. In the construction one of them fell to the bottom and was killed.

The top of this brick shaft was reached the other day and a big American flag floated that looked at the bottom something like a handkerchief.

Antonio Vario's painting in Christ's hospital to commemorate "the foundation of the Royal Mathematical scholarship by King Charles II," one of the largest pictures in the world, was recently taken down to be cleaned. It weighs two and one-half tons and is 37 feet long by 16 feet wide.

NOTES OF THE RAILWAYS

Landscape Gardening Becoming a Part of Modern Management.

THIRD CLASS RAILROAD GARS.

Idea Suggested as a Means of Meeting Competition of the Trolley Lines—Big Earnings of the Northern Pacific—An Innovation in France.

Railroad travelers have noticed the improvement that has been taking place during the last 20 years in the surroundings of railroad stations all over the country and which are particularly noticeable in Massachusetts, where the Newton circuit, so called, connecting 21 suburban towns in the vicinity of Boston, has developed a chain of ivy clad stations, with a natural adornment of shrubs and trees enclosing and connecting them. The circuit is controlled by the Boston and Albany railroad and represents a scheme of improvement that is not only expected to cover in time the whole line, but has been adopted for the various divisions of the New York Central, which has recently added the Albany to its list of leased lines.

The movement began some 20 years ago in the efforts of Mr. E. A. Richardson, the carriage master at Newtonville, Mass., to improve his own station. What he did attracted the attention of the Albany directors, among them Professor Charles S. Sargent, whose position as head of the Arnold Arboretum made him quick to see the value of a like improvement of other stations. The result was that a regularly established department of landscape gardening was soon in operation. Mr. Richardson was put in charge of the work, and the Newton circuit just being opened gave the railroad fresh ground for its experiment. The first new stations built by the late H. H. Richardson, the architect of Trinity Church in Boston, established a standard for all that were afterward erected, and Mr. Frederick Law Olmsted, one of the best known landscape gardeners now living, in like manner set the style for their environment.

In continuing the work done by Mr. Olmsted Mr. Richardson laid everywhere practiced a wise economy. The force of men necessary to do the work has varied, for example, from only 15 to 30 and has covered at least 60 stations. The material used consists entirely of hardy shrubs and trees. There is no expense for showy summer vegetation since it has been found that equally beautiful effects can be obtained by massing native shrubs and plants, with the further result that the stations are attractive at all seasons. To beautify the trucks connecting them many plants, red dogwood, wild roses, sweet fern, bayberries, dwarf willows, sumacs, grapevines, woodbine, honeysuckles, bittersweet, have been used, capable of taking care of themselves, and beside the tracks, particularly to hide billboards and unsightly buildings, the native trees, larches, oaks, spruces and other varieties are employed. The stations are themselves the nurseries in which new material is grown, and every leaf that falls in the autumn is used for the winter beds, while every bit of vegetation that springs up in the driveways is transplanted and becomes part of the general scheme of decoration.

NEW GAME IN ENGLAND.

Some Features of Tennis Crossed With Cricket.

New games seem to be all the rage just now at cards or outdoor sports, writes the London correspondent of the New York Herald. I have mentioned a few lately. Now I have seen another. Ladies have admittedly never shone at cricket. Now they have an opportunity to distinguish themselves at a game which is a compromise between lawn tennis and the sternest play. I don't think very much of it as a substitute for either game myself, but as I make believe it will probably become popular.

The new pastime is generally indulged in at Queen's club, West Kensington. The other day several games were played by members interested in its development. The protagonists were the Marquis of Londonderry, the Earl and Countess of Chesterfield, Earl Howe, Prince zu Linde of the German embassy, Viscountess Castlereagh, Hon. A. H. Grosvenor, Viscountess Cunard, Miss Chaplin, Miss Wilson, Mr. C. C. Rossette, the Hampshire cricketer, and one or two club professionals.

The chief feature of the game is that racket is used instead of a bat and that a small net 3 feet 9 inches in height, with side wings, takes the place of wickets. Catches, as well as service, are made not by hand, but with the racket. The positions of the fielders are necessarily somewhat indefinite. As a rule, the teams are of six on each side to make the best game, but there is an opportunity for additional players if necessary.

In the two matches Earl Howe's side was beaten by a team captained by the Earl of Chesterville.

KANSAS A WHEAT KINGDOM

This Year's Crop Will Reach Ninety Million Bushels.

The farmers of the Kansas wheat belt are getting ready to thresh their vast wheat crop of this year, says a Wichita dispatch to the New York Tribune. It is estimated that the crop will reach the 90,000,000 bushel mark, which is 10,000,000 bushels short of the predictions at the earlier part of the season. Even as it is, the crop is the best ever raised in the Sunflower State, last year reaching only 70,000,000 bushels and the year before 50,000,000 bushels.

This year more than 5,000,000 acres of land were sown in wheat, and 15,000 extra men were imported to assist in harvesting the vast acreage. The income from this crop of wheat will be more than $50,000,000, or $500 to every farmer in the state. The wheat raised is placed on a single rail road reaching from Wichita to New York would fill every car therein.

Next year even more land in Kansas will be planted in wheat. It has come to pass that Kansas is the kingdom of wheat. Already the state leads all others in the production of this cereal. Land that was a few years ago given over to sunflower patches is now being turned into glowing fields of yellow grain. The cause of this abundance of grain is that there is more rainfall in Kansas than in former years. This is caused, it is said by the weather man, by the fact that more trees are being planted, and from a vast prairie the state is rapidly becoming well clothed with forests.

AUTOMOBILE VEILS.

Some Other Expensive Novelties For Protecting the Complexion.

Third class cars on steam roads, already common enough abroad, may be run in America if the ideas of S. T. Crapo, general manager of the Pere Marquette, are carried out, says the Detroit Free Press. Mr. Crapo believes that to run three classes of cars will enable the railroads to compete more successfully with the electric railroads, and he is enthusiastic in his conviction on the subject.

"I think it would be an excellent plan," he says, "for it would give the steamer roads the patronage of the many poor people who want to travel short distances, but who cannot afford to go on steam lines because the fares are so much higher than they are on electric railways. I believe we could successfully meet competition by making faster time than the electric roads do and by charging a low rate to travel."

The earnings of the Northern Pacific railroad for the past fiscal year have been unprecedented in the company's history. Semibofficial figures show that the gross earnings of this road for 11 months amounted to $30,962,640 as compared with $28,782,969 for the corresponding period of the preceding year. It is estimated that the Northern Pacific's gross earnings for the last fiscal year will reach $33,000,000.

A rapid mail train exclusively for the purpose of carrying letters, papers and other objects of correspondence has been established for the first time in France, according to a communication received at the state department from United States Consul Haynes at Rouen.

Recently the train of a conductor on the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad was late. When this occurs, a report has to be made out and the reasons stated. This conductor's report was as follows, says the Philadelphia Press:

The wind was high.
The snow was low.
The train was heavy and hard to move.
The coal was poor and full of slate.
And that's the reason "S" was late.

A Future Great Problem.

The future of South America will be the next great international problem perhaps. As it is, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, our augmented navy will play an important part in the proceedings.

BIG RANCH FOR HORSES

Kansas City Man to Have Largest in the World.

Will consist of 13,200 acres.

It will be established in Gove County, Kan., and will have great stables and a race track, land very fertile and well supplied with water.

Captain W. S. Tough of Kansas City will soon establish the largest horse ranch in the world, says the St. Louis Post Dispatch. It will contain 30 sections of land—49,200 acres—and will be located in Gove County, Kan. The deal has practically been closed.

The deal for the land has been made through E. H. Andrus of the Union Pacific Land company. A large portion of the lands belonged to the Union Pacific company, but Mr. Andrus had to acquire a few sections held by outside parties in order to make a solid tract. The purchase price of the land ranged from $3 to $7.50 an acre.

Captain Tough has been extending his holding in ranch property in recent years. He first established a ranch between Kansas City and Lenexa, two years ago he bought Birnamwood grove at Lawrence and turned it into a horse ranch. A few weeks ago he bought a quarter section of land just across the Union Pacific tracks from Birnamwood grove, paying $100 an acre cash for it. This will utilize in raising feed for his horses. His business has increased so rapidly, however, and the great possibilities for making money on horses has caused him to close a deal which will make him the owner of the largest horse ranch in the world.

The 30 sections of land which Mr. Andrus has sold him are along the Smoky Hill river in Gove county. It is very fertile, is well supplied with water and is especially adapted for the very purpose for which it is purchased. It will all be put under fence and divided into lots. The most of it will be utilized for pastures. The rest will be sown with alfalfa. Large stables will be erected to protect the animals in the winter, and a race track will be built to train horses, both for the track and for city roadsters.

Cheap lands, good pastures and cheap feed are the cause of Captain Tough going so far west to locate his mammoth ranch. If located farther east, land would cost more, and so would feed. The saving in the cost of putting a rail road reaching from Wichita to New York would fill every car thereon.

Next year even more land in Kansas will be planted in wheat. It has come to pass that Kansas is the kingdom of wheat.

Already the state leads all others in the production of this cereal. Land that was a few years ago given over to sunflower patches is now being turned into glowing fields of yellow grain. The cause of this abundance of grain is that there is more rainfall in Kansas than in former years. This is caused, it is said by the weather man, by the fact that more trees are being planted, and from a vast prairie the state is rapidly becoming well clothed with forests.

Everything to dress seems to snuff of the automobile these days, and now we have automobile veiling, which is much heavier than a chiffon veil and finished with hemstitched edges, says the New York Sun. Besides looking very nice, it has the virtues of being durable and of being a great protection for the complexion. One little shop on Fifth avenue has brought out this novelty, with many others of the more fancy sort.

For the women who do not mind spending hundreds of dollars for veiling in one season there is a chiffon veil hemstitched all around by hand in the daintiest manner. Many fancy effects on white mesh veiling are made by using a large dot of white chenille with the tiniest little dots of black chenille half way around it.

Again, there are bunches of grapes in white chenille dots, with a little coil stem done in black silk thread. The newest thing in colored chiffon veiling has a medium large dot of velvet matching the color on one side and white on the other.

Judge Tree at Alfred's Millenary.</

FIVE

Years in the Penitentiary

For Dickman,

If the Sentence is Carried Out.

Judge Armstrong Overruled the Motion for a New Trial

But Allows a Respite of Sixty Days to Permit the Case to be Taken to the Circuit Court for a Hearing.

Clem Dickman was sentenced yesterday to serve five years in the penitentiary for the killing of Jack Carroll. Judge Armstrong overruled the motion for a new trial.

The case came up in the morning and there was considerable argument on the affidavits filed by the defendant's attorneys on the question of departing from the evidence and the record in the argument before the jury. Mr. Klinger had filed counter affidavits and it was the desire of Messrs. Ridlenour and Halfhill to reply to these that made it necessary to postpone the final consideration of the case until three o'clock in the afternoon. It was somewhat later than that before the argument in the Wayne street case was closed by Judge Richie, and Judge Cunningham then retired from the bench to give way to Judge Armstrong.

In the motion for a new trial 13 causes of error were recited and the most important of these were taken up by the court and discussed at some length. The one upon which the greatest stress was laid was the calling into question certain remarks made by Mr. Klinger in his argument, and at a time when the court was not on the bench.

During the time that Mr. Halfhill was addressing the jury he referred to the killing of Steven Rowlands by A. D. Clevenger, and he reminded the jury that although the blow delivered by Clevenger had resulted in the death of Rowlands, the former was acquitted and the deed held to have been committed in self defense. When it came the turn of Mr. Klinger to close the argument he made the statement that the present case was but the echo of the failure to punish in the one cited by Mr. Halfhill, and that the jury should see that Dickman's crime did not go unpunished.

This remark and also the strong statement in which the selling of liquor on Sunday was held to have been responsible for the crime were objected to by the defendant's attorneys as prejudicing the jury, and that this departure from the record by the state's attorney, as sufficient to entitle Dickman to another trial. Also another statement that one employee of the Elk cafe had thrown Carroll out of the place and another had stabbed him to death. Mr. Halfhill reminded the court that Carroll was not thrown out of the saloon and that Dickman had been discharged and was therefore no longer connected with it.

Judge Armstrong took up this question as perhaps the most important of the errors claimed during the trial and in holding it as not prejudicial he referred to several well-known cases in which even stronger allusions were made outside of the evidence and yet not held to be sufficiently damaging against the defendants to injure his chances of a fair and impartial trial.

The court did not believe that the remarks made by Mr. Klinger were beyond his privilege or that they in any way affected the verdict of the jury. As for his refusal to deliver a special charge prepared by the defendant's attorneys, impressing upon each juror that he must be absolutely positive in his own mind of the guilt of the accused before concurring in a verdict to that effect, Judge Armstrong stated that the Supreme Court had held that it was not the duty of a juror under his oath, to hold his individual opinion against the rest of the jurors. If the evidence in the case was held by them to be sufficiently strong to convict, and for that reason he could find no error in his refusal to deliver the charge.

The questions all disposed of, Judge Armstrong added that he believed the prisoner had had a fair and impartial trial, and that the jury was without doubt one of the best that had ever occupied the box, the attention they gave to the case from beginning to end being exceptionally noticeable.

Those conditions being true, the motion for a new trial would be overruled.

Dickman was then asked to come forward and in words in which there was marked sincerity, Judge Armstrong impressed upon the prisoner the enormity of his offense and pleaded with him to let this grave lesson prove a warning to him when once again he would be permitted to enjoy his liberty.

"This is one of the most disagreeable duties a court is compelled to perform," said the Judge "and I have great pity for you. You are a young man, and I do not believe inclined to be vicious, but you have taken the life of another and the sentence must be somewhat commensurate with the gravity of the crime. There was a very strong showing of self defense, and you were perhaps not altogether to blame, but I cannot believe you thought your life was in danger. The jury did not believe you were placed in a situation which called forth the fatal attack. You seemed to invite the quarrel, to challenge the assault, as you called to him and addressed an epithet that aroused his anger. Then you had your knife out and ready for his return."

"I understand that you are an orphan and lacked the tender influence of mother, but this duty was performed by kind and loving sisters and it is they who will suffer most. But the court cannot shrink from its disagreeable duty for the law must be preserved. The least I can give you is five years, but that long time can be lessened by your good behavior. If you prove to be a model prisoner, perhaps a parole or even a pardon may await you, and if it does let this be a lesson to you and govern your future conduct."

At the conclusion of the sentence Mr. Halfhill requested the court to suspend the carrying out of the sentence until the matter could be heard in the Circuit Court. The court does not meet here until November, but Judge Armstrong granted a stay of 60 days and the case will have to be disposed of within that time. The bond of $1500 was renewed.

Increased the Size.

The car barns of the Western Ohio Railway Co. at this place are nearing completion, says the St. Marys Graphic. The big power house, which will be twice as large as originally planned, is also well under way and some of the big boilers are being placed in position. Owing to the increased size of this building it has been found necessary to raise the roof about seven feet, which will cause considerable extra work owing to the fact that about half of the iron work for the roof has already been placed in position. The water well which was drilled for the purpose of supplying the boilers did not produce the volume of water that was expected and the company has decided to pipe their water from the feeder.

ACCIDENTResulted in Andy Myers Breaking His Arm.

A. J. Myers of west Market street, while doing some painting about his home this morning, fell from the ladder, breaking his left arm and bruising his left hip badly. His injuries are painful, but, although severely shaken up, there is nothing of an internal nature that is likely to prove serious.

A little lifemay be sacrificed to an hour's delay. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, come suddenly. Only safe plan is to have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry always on hand.

NOTA Single Objection Was Filed*And the Words*Of Lima's Citizens Are Encouraging.*The Meeting of the Board of Trade is Productive of Good Results,*And the Plan of Selling Lots to Raise Money for the Lima Machine Works Pronounced as Feasible.

There is a good representation of leading business men at the meeting of the board of trade last night, and it is encouraging to note that everybody who gave expression to their views takes kindly to the proposition of the Lima Locomotive and Machine works and feels satisfied that the scheme of raising the required amount of money will be successfully carried out.

It was the desire of the board however, to give the citizens of Lima an opportunity of getting at the very bottom of the proposition and it was deemed advisable to call a mass meeting at the court house Tuesday evening July 16. During the 10 days intervening the company will prepare a number of similar maps with the complete outline of the proposed new addition, so that everybody can think and act intelligently.

Expressions of approval were made by a number of the staunchest citizens, and there was a feeling everywhere prevalent that the company was really giving and not receiving, considering that what has long been considered as one of the most valuable portions of the city was to be laid out and sold in lots at prices that were worth every cent that is asked.

When president Mitchell asked for remarks on the proposition, W. K. Boone was the first to respond and he was followed by F. E. Hurman, D. C. Henderson, W. L. McKenzie, W. F. Numan, H. D. Campbell and W. B. Richie.

Without exception all agreed that the proposition was a decidedly fair one and that owing to the value of the property, its advantage in location and the scheme of laying out a handsome park, which nature has already provided, would be sure to make the scheme a go. Mr. McKenzie called attention to the increased value of building lots in certain parts of the city, some of which value at $400, particularly on Collett, Elm and Nye streets were now held at $750, and disposed of 32 lots on Collett street at the last named figure. If given his pick of the lots, Mr. McKenzie stated that he would take 20 of them at once, but the intention of drawing for choice was the proper way to dispose of them and in that manner everybody would have an even chance.

Snyder's resignation was accepted and Hoover was let out, but got his case taken up by the higher officials, as he felt he was not to blame for the oversight. The review of the case proved unfavorable, however, the driver being that he had earned his discharge. Application will be made to have him reinstated, and considering that he has been with the company 23 years his friends hope that their efforts will prove successful.

Mrs. Jno. Baker, of west McElroy street, will entertain the Faithful Helpers next Wednesday afternoon.

SMASH UPWas Narrowly Averted on the C. H. & D.*And the Engineer and Conductor Are Let Out.*Efforts Will be Made to Have Conductor Hoover Reinstated, But Engineer Snyder Voluntarily Resigned.

There has been considerable indignation around among C. H. & D. trainmen because of the discharge of Conductor J. G. Hoover, and the other conductors are especially displeased at the final action of the Cincinnati officials.

Hoover's offense is one which his friends insist belongs wholly to engineer Wm. Snyder, and the latter immediately offered his resignation and left for Toledo, where he is now employed at the Toledo Bridge Works. Naturally, no report of the affair would be given out at headquarters, but the discharge of conductor Hoover is a matter which the trainmen discuss openly, and could not longer be kept from the public ear.

According to the Times-Democrat's information engineer Snyder and conductor Hoover were going south with freight, and both were furnished with a time order to meet second 96 at Sidney. First 96 was coming north on time and the two trains were supposed to pass at the C. & E. junction. Hoover was in the caboose when the junction was reached, and supposed the train was taking the siding until informed otherwise by the brakeman, who came down from the top of the caboose with the report that he supposed Snyder was going to try and make Cridersville.

Hoover ordered the brakeman to swing the engineer down as 96 was due in seven minutes. The brake was set on the caboose and the car ahead, but owing to the third car being loaded with machinery, the brakeman couldn't get over. The signals did not seem to be observed and the train continued for a mile or more before Snyder applied the brakes.

In the meantime the operator at the junction reported the freight as having passed the junction, and at headquarters a collision was fully expected as first 96 was swinging in from Cridersville with a clear track order for Lima. But the catastrophe was averted just in the nick of time, first 96 coming up just as Snyder reversed his train and hustled back to the junction.

Snyder's resignation was accepted and Hoover was let out, but got his case taken up by the higher officials, as he felt he was not to blame for the oversight. The review of the case proved unfavorable, however, the driver being that he had earned his discharge. Application will be made to have him reinstated, and considering that he has been with the company 23 years his friends hope that their efforts will prove successful.

While a Toledo Writer Declares the Story to be Nothing But Wind.

Review of the Field Operation.

Despite the fact that it has been denied time and again, the Manhattan continues to take oil from a number of the largest producing leases in the Little township field. They are gradually making bids for other productions than the ones they have already secured and successfully so.

It is strange but nevertheless a fact that Producer John F. Pogue did not know that his production was being taken from his Blakesley lease by the Manhattan until he was acquainted with the fact by the Courier. This was owing to a certain condition which are purely private but which may be come of interest later on. In an interview recently published in the Morning Republican Mr. Pogue expressed surprise at the announcement made in the Courier, inasmuch as it was his own lease that was referred to in the same, and from the fact that he knew nothing whatever of the change made in the withdrawal service. Upon investigation, however, he found that the announcement was correct and to his great surprise that the oil from his Blakesley lease was being delivered to the Manhattan Oil company.

It is reliably stated that the Manhattan has at the present time a greater part of the Liberty oil production and that the additions being made daily will soon place the company in the lead if it has not done so already.—Findlay Courier.

Just how much stock is taken in the continued persistence of the Findlay paper that the Manhattan is still a rival of the Standard, the Toledo Times makes the following comment:

A report was current in Findlay the other day that the Manhattan Oil company was again a competitor of the Standard in the production and transportation business. There is about as much truth in this as some of the reports from Texas and California, it is to say.

Proves to Have Plenty of Horse Sense.

An Incident of the Accident at Mansfield When Blond Hayes was Thrown Overboard.

The 2:23 pace in which Gem S. owned by Charlie King, came so near winning first money was one of the most exciting of the week meeting at Mansfield, and the second heat in 2:18½ was the fastest time made. Note off the collision, in which Blond Hayes figured, was made yesterday, but the Mansfield Sheldy furnished the following additional details:

It took five heats to decide the 2:23 pace. The first heat was won by Gem S. as was also the second, but then he was captured by Rockwell. The third heat was not exciting, but in the second great enthusiasm prevailed. At the half, the horses were all together and stayed so all the way and until near the stretch. Rockwell dropped back. This heat was made in 2:18½, the fastest one of the meet so far. In the three other heats they were well bunched all the time. Mansfield, a horse owned by Barnes Bros. attracted much attention. He led great speed and came up strong on the halves but seemed to be erratic at critical times. At the third heat at a controversy arose between W. H. Laitte and G. W. Curtis, who had lined up near the quarter pole. The heat was investigated by the judges. In the last heat, the second time around, the drivers of Buncy Jr. and Gem S. collided throwing Hayes, the driver of Gem S. from his seat. Nancy Sykes passed over Hayes, but he was uninjured. A peculiar incident happened here. The horse, Gem S., who was then without a driver jogged for about 100 feet and then walked back to the place where the driver was standing. In the meantime, the swipes furnished much amusement, by running across the field to eat the animal, which they thought would certainly run away. It was a great example of horse sense. At the end of this heat, the driver of Happy Hastings tried to file kick, alarming with others that Hayes purposely ran into the sulky in front of him. The judges decided that the accident was unavoidable and during the time of the deciding heats, the horses galloped around the stand to see how they would come out on their investments for the heat.

At the Old Home, Gantown, O., July 6.—President and Mrs. McKinley have arrived at their former home here, where they are to spend the remainder of the summer, except that the president may visit the Buffalo exposition and run to Washington for a few days. They were accompanied by Secretary Collier, Dr. Dixey, several clerical members of the White House, and servants. Occasional visits at intervals of several days will be made by the president to the capital to dispose of any accumulated business demanding his attention.

Evans Called on the President.
Washington, July 6.—Clay Evans, commissioner of pensions, called on the president to bid him good-bye before his departure for Canton. He told Mr. McKinley he had taken an inventory of all pension claims on hand; that he would have his annual report ready very soon and asked the president if he had instructions or orders to give. The president made no suggestions. The interview was extremely pleasant and nothing has developed to change the situation as it was existing for some time.

A report was current in Findlay the other day that the Manhattan Oil company was again a competitor of the Standard in the production and transportation
